

Although morse code has uses today, those uses are strictly of a pleasurable nature. Morse code is not necessary today because of the many other modes of communication which can be used just as reliably as morse. I therefore fully support this petition for the discontinuance of the morse testing requirement.